Reviews

- "Nova Religio: The Journal of Alternative and Emergent Religions" 15.3 (February 2012): 139–141. Review by Irén E. Annus (University of Szeged, Hungary): "This volume may be of interest to readers involved not only in Religious Studies, but also in Political Science, History, Intellectual History, American Studies, and Cultural Studies. . . . In the course of the detailed and well-documented analysis of individual religions, Buck reveals a highly elaborate and in-depth picture of the various beliefs, which is indeed impressive. . . . He argues that the original myth and vision of America as a nation was captured by the Protestant notion of manifest destiny. This has been challenged by the other faiths . . . that have transformed the idea of manifest destiny into America's common destiny. . . . The book is overall a fresh and stimulating cultural reading of some of America's religions and the complex ways in which their followers make sense of and act in the world."
- "Journal of American History" 98.1 (June 2011): 279–280. Review by Richard Kyle (Tabor College): "Religious Myths and Visions of America has many strengths. The author has defended his thesis with solid research. He has also made an original contribution to American studies."

- Multicultural Review 18.4 (Winter 2009): 66. Review by Vladimir F. Wertsman (New York Public Library):
 “This interesting, thoroughly researched scholarly study examines how ten minor religions interpreted America’s reality (“nation and notion”) and generated numerous religious myths and visions of America. . . . [t]his volume is certainly a welcome addition to the topic of racial, cultural, and ethnic studies. . . . Recommended for comparative ethnic and religion collections.”
